x As nurse practitioners (NPs) we have all been through training, and so we are all aware that quality clinical training sites are scarce. As the number of student NPs needing placement increases, the shortage of training sites has grown. Inherent in this shortage are challenges for students, preceptors, and the sponsoring institutions.

Nurse practitioners motivated by beneficence initiate policy change, conduct research, provide testimony, compose position statements, and act in many ways that illustrate tough decisions. Strictly moral decisions are generated from within while legal decisions are mandated from without, but ethical decisions embrace a wider scope, placing most of their emphasis on the benefit of others.
